

ARL Recruits New OMS Director

ARL invites nominations and applications for the position of Director of Office of Management Services, established in 1970 to develop and advocate imaginative and practical strategies for research library organizational and leadership development. ARL now seeks applicants with a vision of how research libraries can be shaped and a clear understanding of the changes underway in these institutions. The successful candidate will be committed to advancing and improving research libraries' management and leadership and can offer stimulating ideas and an agenda to facilitate this objective. For more information about OMS, the recruitment process, and the position, see the online position description no longer available - contact [OLMS for this information].

© ARL: A Bimonthly Newsletter of Research Library Issues and Actions 193 (August 1997).
Washington, DC: Association of Research Libraries.

Table of Contents for Issue 193 | Other Management Articles | ARL Newsletter Home

ARL Home

© Association of Research Libraries, Washington, DC
Maintained by ARL Web Administrator
Last Modified: July 21, 2001