Working Group on Transformation at Scale

ARL has the potential to deliver collective action that leads to transformation at scale. The working group’s task is to recommend the conditions under which ARL can make the biggest difference at scale. The working group is charged with identifying:

- How ARL can most effective take action that creates transformation at scale
- Where ARL does so today and how well we are doing, including what we can learn from our past work and the work of others
- As a result:
  - Identify best practices/guidelines/criteria for collective action, including necessary ingredients for success.
  - Identify the steps we need to take going forward to position ourselves to effect transformation at scale.
  - Given what we see as potential focus areas, which ones are the most likely to succeed at scale.

(Staff liaison: Mary Lee Kennedy)